The Pyramid Award for Student Organization of the Year

The Pyramid Award for Student Organization of the Year was named in recognition of the Pyramid Honor Society, which was created in the early 1900’s to form a group of students who represented the University by their activities and interests. This award honors registered student organizations and their distinguished level of contribution to the GW community through planned events and programs, both on and off campus.

Student organizations which receive this award are recognized by their exceptional success in motivating and organizing fellow students to enhance campus life; and by their collaborative efforts with other organizations or departments to achieve objectives to improve student life. Please note that social Greek organizations are not eligible.
